

1-204TH INFANTRY REGIMENT

“The Army Saw That Utah Was Ready.”

– Brig. Gen. Shawn Fuellenbach

Key Details of the New Unit

Size: Approximately 600 soldiers

Headquarters: Ogden (Browning Armory)

Companies located in: Logan, Tooele, and St. George

Parent Brigade: 204th Maneuver Enhancement

Brigade (MEB), headquartered at Camp Williams.

Higher Headquarters for Training & Deployment: Aligned with the Washington National Guard's 81st Stryker Brigade Combat Team, but administratively part of Utah's 204th MEB

The Future of Combat Utah at the Leading Edge

The 1-204th is one of the Army's first light/mobile infantry battalions under the service's transformation initiative. These units are testing new doctrine, new vehicles, and new tactics in real time — on the ever-changing battlefield to meet modern challenges.

Equipment: The 1-204th is transitioning from Strykers to the Army's newest Infantry Squad Vehicles (ISV) and Joint Light Tactical Vehicles (JLTV) — highly mobile platforms designed for rapid maneuverability and deployment.

Mission: Close with and destroy the enemy through fire and maneuver; provide tactical combat force for the brigade; support domestic operations (wildfires, search & rescue, disaster response).

FORGED IN THE MOUNTAINS

LIVE OR DIE,
WELL, I DON'T KNOW

O' HAIL O' HAIL
INFANTRY

QUEEN OF BATTLE
FOLLOW ME

WHERE NOTING IN
THIS WORLD IS FREE

